Today's family is ever-changing. It 's difficult to keep up with new research and information alone.

The Extension Homemakers Organization provides informal education, leadership, and community activities. Homemaker clubs are a part of the University of Kentucky Cooperative Extension Service. Through a variety of programs, home-makers are able to contribute more effectively to the well being of their family, community, and themselves.

Why not join an existing club or a new one. If your time is limited, become a mailbox member. This membership allows you to receive all educational materials, bulletins, and our monthly newsletter plus other mailings sent right to your home.

To become a member of the Kenton County Homemakers, complete the form on the back page.

We Welcome You!
